BACKGROUND

Bangladesh's food processing and packaging industry is rapidly evolving in response to rising domestic consumption, export diversification, and increasing demand for safe, hygienic, and value-added food products. As agro-based industries expand and processed food exports grow, manufacturers are adopting modern processing, preservation, packaging, and quality control technologies to meet international standards and market expectations.

However, the sector still faces challenges such as limited automation, insufficient cold chain integration, food safety compliance gaps, and the need for advanced ingredients and preservation solutions. To strengthen competitiveness and ensure food safety across the supply chain, Bangladesh requires integrated technologies covering processing machinery, packaging systems, ingredients, preservation, testing, and logistics.

Food Processing & Packaging Bangladesh 2026 is therefore designed as a focused industry platform to connect global technology providers, manufacturers, processors, and supply-chain stakeholders with Bangladesh's expanding food manufacturing ecosystem.

OBJECTIVE OF FOOD PROCESSING & PACKAGING BANGLADESH 2026
